“When we first arrived in the area, we went through a parade of agents. It seemed that the only criteria any of them had for showing us a property was that it have four walls and a roof. Exhausted from being dragged all over the Conejo Valley, we took the recommendation of a colleague and called Niki and Dionne. To our surprise, they talked to us. Not just a short interview to determine budget, size and location, but an actual conversation! They took the time to get to know our family and understand our interests and priorities that went beyond the physical characteristics of a house.

As a consequence, while we viewed a myriad properties with Niki and Dionne, not a single viewing was a waste of time. Every property we saw appealed to us in some way. After weeks with other agents, we despaired of ever finding a house we liked. Within days of working with The Curtiss Team, we realized we were spoiled for choice and knew we would find a house we loved.

We eventually found a cozy single-story in Agoura Hills. We are delighted with the town, the schools and the neighbors. We will certainly call Niki and Dionne when we are ready to move again!”
